Horse THIEF.-On Saturday morning last, a colored man named Sidney Norton hired a saddle horse of Mr. Duck, keeper of a livery stable, at Perry, Jefferson County, ostensibly for three-quarters of an hour's ride, but really for "keeps." At 11 o'clock that night, the owner became alarmed for the safety of bis property and started for Leavenworth via Oskaloosa. Three miles this side of the latter place he struck a fresh trail of the fugitive and found thief and horse at Me-Lanathan's stable, yesterday morning, where the erring young man was arrested by officer Huckett. The prisoner was started for Jefferson County in the afternoor, in charge of an officer, for examination at the place where the crime was committed.

Among the latter are life-like portraits, by the best artists, of nine celebrated trotting horses, (including Dexter, Lady Thorn, Mountain Boy, Ethan Allen, Geo. Palmer, &c.); also a portrait of Gen. Trochu, Governor of Paris, and a neat, humorous illustration of "Four Scenes in the Life of an Emperor." A new and important feature is introduced in this number -viz., a department entitled "The Pacific Coast," edited by the Hon. T. Hart Hvatt, of California. The Rural also announces the accession of Mr. A. S. Fuller (a popular and able author, and late one of the editors of Hearth and Home) to its already superior editorial staff. all of the official Prussian journals, deaying Favre's representations advanced at the interview of Favre and Bismarck. The circular contradicts, in various particulars, Favre's statements. He says he told Favre he would state the frontier claimed by Prussia only after France publicly cancels the principle of a cession of territory. "I attended to the formation of the new Moselle District, which includes Saarbruck, Chalean, Salens, Saar, Strasburg, Metz, and the Thionville Arrondissements, but I have not renounced the right to make further demands, nounced the right to make further demands, calculated to indemnify us for a continuance of the war. Favre called Strasburg the key of the house, leaving it doubtful whose house was referred to in the simile. I replied, quickly: 'Yes, it is the key of our own house, and therefore we object to leaving it in foreign hands.'" DETAILS OF THE BATTLE OF THE 30TH Favre in a previous correspondence had said he was willing to pay, as a price of peace all the money France had, but he refused to listen to any territorial surrender. He added that, if such cession was an indipensable requirement of Prussia, negotiation was useless, as it involved France in dishonor. Bismarck reminded him that they were terms such as France had forced on Italy and exacted from Germany even with-out a previous war, and that the honor of France was not keener than that of other peo-ples. Favre declined to recognize prece-dents, or see how little the honor of France was concerned with the preservation of the Territorial acts of Louis IV., of of the Re public of the first Emperor.

The question of an armstice was only discussed at Ferriers. The statement, therefore, that I had refused an armstice at the preceding interview, is false. It was agreed at the Ferriers meeting that an armstice would be possible, if France would give Prussis guarantees against delay, and against destroying the advantages of the position she had earned in the war. These guarantees included the retention of the fortresses on the line of communication, and the handing over of the fortifications of Paris pending the negotiations, or else a comding post near the city. It would be

Paris free intercourse with the people of the country, as the city might thus have re-ceived supplies and reinforcements. Favre refused these terms, yet he promised to conrefused these terms, yet ne promised to con-sult his colleagues in the government at Paris. The programme he carried back and submitted included an armistice of fifteen or twenty days, to permit the meeting of the Constituent Assembly, the maintenance of the military status before Paris, the continuance of hostilities under certain limitation and the surrender of Toul and Bitsche. The refusal of these terms must convince man-kind that the French government believed their acceptance would produce peace, but which was not desired by them. ENTHUSIASM FOR PRUSSIA ABATING. LONDON, Oct. 4-An American writer the Standard says the news of Prussian victories now falls dead in the United State

In It a Fact That Impurity of the Blood is the prime cause of almost every pain or ailment that fesh is helt to. That such is a fact seems to be an intuitive knowledge, and the want of some Depurant, or Blood Purifier, a natural, instinctive desire. The Kidneys are the or-gams to which the duty belongs of purifying the Blood. Their failure to perform this duty causes the Blood to become vitiated, and give rise to a host of ailments too numerous to mention. WAYNE'S DIU-RETIC ELIXIR will restore the Kidneys to their proper action, and, together with its ALTEHNATIVE properties, will bring the system to Health and Vigor. October 5th.

PIRATING A TRADE MARK.

An Infomous Imposture. Sir: My preparation, "Helmbold's Buchu," is known the world over as a standard remedy. The success which has attended my business has induced some knave or knaves to pirate my trade mark, in order to palm off upon the patent medicine trade and the unsuspecting public a sparious article. Aside from the pecuniary injury which these swindlers may do to me, they are imposing upon the suffering public. The afflicted, by using their worthless and pernicious preparations, may sustain irreparable and fatal injury. I ask, therefore, at your hands, as the conductor of the most widely circulated To the Editor of the Sun conductor of the most widely circulated newspaper in the United States, if not in the world, an opportunity to expose the knave-ries of these infamous impostors. Their mode of operation is as follows: Circulars are issued to the drug trade in a given district, offering "Helmbold's Buchu" at a larger reduction from the wholesale trade rates. These circulars are dated from a given street and number in a city in the vicinity of the district thus covered. Many druggists located in small towns and by-ways are thus induced to order by mail, thinking that a branch office for the genuine article has been established there.

By the time I have been informed of these nefarious transactions, and have placed my detectives on the watch for the rascals, they have made their harvest, and flown to other
